The liberal party's program in England embraces one plank that Americans are surprised at only because it was not included in the party's platform long ago. It is the demand for the abolition of what is known as plural voting and the cry is "one vote for one man." The plural vote is where the voter owns property entitling him to vote in several shires or counties and votes in such of them as he chooses. The demand includes a uniform system by which votes shall be equalized. The voter entitled to vote votes once and his right ceases with that exercise of the suffrage. This . . is the main provision, but there are other details of local importance. The idea as . embodied in this demand is fundamental in a | . land living under one law of liberty. In the respect of inequality the English suffrage has always been conspicuous as compared with American. A perfectly uniform system of local suffrage over a number of states all having their own laws and customs is not possible, if it be desirable. But federal suffrage is becoming more and more uniform in this republic. The English have had no such excuse as we have for the injustice wrought by a suffrage according to which one community has ten votes and another equally intelligent has only one vote. Radical ideas are growing in England, the most conservative of all countries. It will not be many generations before the broadening suffrage working apward will emancipate the British isles from the fetters of tradition and the useless pomp and expense of a form of government that has outlived such usefulness as it may once have

Are there no poets in America that the world's fair directors have to beg an English poet, who is unwilling to comply with their request, to write an ode commemorative of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America! If Lowell, Whittier, Stedman and others are incompetent to deal with such an event. America itself is unequal to the fair and the celebration. With all his undoubted genius Lord Tennyson's later verses do not indicate the possession of higher poetical gifts than those of some of the contemporaneous American writers. His recent lines to "sleep" have been the butt of the American press for some time. Not every poem reflects lustre on its author. But no American poet of the first or second ranks has ever fallen so far beneath mediocrity as the . great Lord Alfred. But if he had not written a line below the high water mark of the Wellington ode, the Idyls of the King, etc., the obvious fact that on such an occasion as the one to be commemorated Americans would wish to hear an American ought to be recognized and acted upon by the world's fair di----

It is probable that some modification of the present tariff, it may not be a considerable one, will be made by the 52nd Congress in view of . the narrow republican majority in the house controlled by that party and the disposition of western republican Senators. The republicans . will have a majority of six in the Senate of the next Congress. In the last Congress, counting all the republicans who voted on this question on any proposition of importance or were paired . against their party, there were more than enough votes to change the result if it were to be declared over, with the recent elections in New York, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Kansas considered. The vote would be very close, it is true, but the probabilities are that the western men will vote as they did before except the Senators from the states affected by the elections referred to. The President can of course . prevent by his veto any radical changes.

The teaching of the MacQueary heresy case is that no one who has openly and unmistakably embraced scientific rationalism in regard to the incarnation and resurrection can be a rector in the Protestant Episcopal Church. There is nothing surprising in this decision. It is imossible to conceive how the belief taught by that church can be harmonized with Mr. Mac-Queary's views, or how the doctrine on the subjects involved can be treated by it as relating to non-essential matters. The remarkable feature of the trial is the vote for the accused rector's acquittal by two members of the board of five who tried him a fact which furnishes far stronger testimony than Mr. MacQueary's declarations to the unsettlement of old faiths. even among the teachers in a most conserva-tive body of Christians.

Here is a question for civil service examination applicants: Choteau county, Dakota, had no population in 1880 and 8 in 1890; Sargent county had none in 1880 and 5,076 in 1890, which had the larger per cent of increase and what was the percent in each county? Also Boreman county with 534 population in 1880 had none in 1890, and Wallette with 432 in 1880 had none in 1890; which had larger per cent of decrease, and how does the percent of decrease in these two compare with that of increase in Little Rhody is "some pumpkins" of a state, after all. The smallest of all the states, she has the largest population per square mile. or 319.44 persons. The figures of the last census show that if the whole Union were as densely populated it would contain 945,766,800 inhabitants. Now it is seen for what lihode Island is distinguished above all her sister states. She has been observing Lord Baltimore's Maryland motto, which rendered into plain English reads: "Increase and multiply."

It is observed that Mr. Parnell's envoys are not organizing any "overflow" meetings. Irish-American sentiment is certainly not unanimons as against that leader, but it is equally clear that he is not just now commanding as much enthusiasm as he did before he ceased to deserve it.

In view of all America has done for Ireland was it quite in order for Envoy O'Kelly to open his appeal for Parnell in New York last night by saying: "I am here to win for the cause of Ireland the sympathy that has been hitherto

SARS FOR EASTER.

Tomorrow will be the first of a succession of seven of the busiest days in the whole year. The week before Easter everybody is wide awake buying. If it isn't a complete new "rig" from head to foot-there's many a change you'll make in commemoration of the formal opening of the spring season. No one likes to be behind the times. You'll hardly blame us for laying particular stress on our BOYS' and CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT Saturday is their day of days and there's such a multitude of novelties teasing to be brought to your notice.

It beats all how the REEFERS have grown in YOUR favor. And do you know demand feeds the fire of thought and better designs are the result. They are perfect beauties we are showing this season. SHIRT WAISTS!

It isn't necessary to ask if you're in want, because that's a foregone conclusion. Where there are boys there's a demand for waists. We sell hundreds of dozens in excess of any other house in town, because we have the sole right to the best waist. There hasn't been a pattern cut yet that fits like the "Star." That's the important thing, too. The designs came next—Every piece of goods that is used in the Star waist is wayne according to the Star waist is wayne according to the star waist in the star was a star in the Star waist is woven especially for them.
They are not thrown on the resources of an unreliable market. There are most as many brands as there are boys to wear them—but the "Star" is king. The new waists are in—Flannel, Percale and Linen—hundered and red—a solid wall of them.

FURNISHINGS.

When we enlarged our Juvenile Furnishing Department it was that it should include everything that came under that head. Neckwear will be the drawing card until after Easter. We never carried such a variety before. WINDSOR, FUFF, TECK and FOUR-IN-HAND SCARFS in all sorts of pretty plaids and figures.
